

Program Description

The Big Sky Pulmonary Conference is a continuing education conference for health professionals, which will highlight promising methods of preventing and managing respiratory illness and associated risk factors according to evidence based guidelines. The theme of this year's conference is Team Based Pulmonary Care: Best Practices and Emerging Research.

Objectives

At the completion of this activity, participants should be able to:

- Identify methods to promote respiratory health and improve care for pulmonary patients.
- Describe how to best utilize a team based approach to implement evidence based recommendations and improve systems of care to pulmonary patients.
- Discuss emerging research in the field of pulmonary medicine and its implications to the future of medical practice.

Continuing Education Credits

The Montana Department of Public Health and Human Services is affiliated with the University of Washington School of Medicine.

The University of Washington School of Medicine is accredited by the Accreditation Council for Continuing Medical Education to provide continuing medical education for physicians.

The University of Washington School of Medicine designates this live activity for a maximum of 12.0 AMA PRA Category 1 Credits™. Physicians should claim only the credit commensurate with the extent of their participation in the activity.
